Class History

The moment had arrived, our mothers were fixing that pigtail or adjusting that suspender, and giving us a kiss or a love pat. Some of us went down a long lane to catch the bus, while others paraded through town to get to the Washington Township School. We all proudly walked to the big entrance and entered with wide smiles or awesome looks in our eyes. We were surprised to find many other little schoolmates gathered together for the first day.

It was early September, nineteen hundred and forty-nine, our first day of school, for thirteen of the present graduates. On Entering our room we were greeted by our teacher, Mrs. Smith. The first graders were: Patricia Overmyer, Daun Hetrick, Betty Wagner, Barbara Linker, Janet Nowak, Mary Roush, Sharon Humburg, Sandra Smith, Gilford Root, Allan Brindley, Thomas Auxter, John Mitchell, and Brice Overmyer.

After nine months of hard work we became members of the second grade. In the second grade, Herbert Reed and Linda Crispen joined us, but we lost Tedd Munn, Connie Karr and Dennis Pasch. Our teacher was Mrs. Sand. She taught us a little more that year. Mrs. Sand also taught our third year. During that year, we lost Patricia McGravey, Michael Hess and Larry Maurer, but we gained Felipe Garcia, Sally Johnson, Faye Martin and Donald Smith. We all managed to pull through to the fourth grade, where Mrs. Hathaway continued to slave over us. By the end of the year, we gained Richard Baker and Gay Heart. We lost Marianne Root and Herbert Reed.

We moved on to the fifth grade where Mrs. Hathaway was again our teacher. Dennis Hasselbach joined us. That year, Sally Johnson, and Donald Smith left us.

Then we were passed on to the sixth grade. Our teacher was Mrs. Weikert. We had more studies that year. Richard Baker left us, but we gained Judy Hines.

By this time we were old hands at this job of school and flew right through the seventh grade, but stopped long enough to pick up Phillip Hicks and to lose Phyllis Keck and Judy Hines. Our teacher was Mr. Solomon.

In the fall of "56" we entered the eighth grade with both joy and sadness, for this would be our last year at Washington Township School. As we entered the school we greeted two new faces, Bernard Ladd and Robert Hartzel. Two weeks later we greeted another new schoolmate Gary Yoder. We lost only one person this year, Eva DeLeon.

As the twenty-one of us are graduating this spring, we will always look back and think of those eight past happy years at Washington Township School.

THE PRESENT TWENTY-ONE GRADUATES ARE:

Daun Hetrick	Thomas Auxter
Sharon Humburg	Allan Brindley
Barbara Linker	Feiipe Garcia
Faye Martin	Robert Hartsel
Janet Nowak	Dennis Hasselbach
Patricia Overmyer	Phillip Hicks
Mary Roush	Bernard Ladd
Sandra Smith	John Mitchell
Betty Wagner	Brice Overmyer
Larry Auxter	Gilford Root

Class Prophecy

Place: Anywhere, U.S.A.
Time: Between January and December
Year: 1970

It was a warm, sunny day and no wonder! I had Allan Brindley, chief research weather expert for the U.S. Navy, fix it up for me.

I was traveling by Heli-jet, a new device that is a helicopter with jet design for the U.S. Air Force and civilian commercial pilot.

I had won the, "Decade Chemist-Medical Award," by inventing a cancer vaccine and my prize was a tour around the United States and $50,000 paid by the government.

I stopped in New York and saw the, "Hit Parade," where Daun Hetrick was taking Dorothy Collin's place and Bob Hartsel was taking Snooky Lanson's place.

After that I went to see Gilford Root, who was playing third base for the Cleveland Indians against the New York Yankees at the Yankee Stadium. The Indians were leading six to four when I left.

Madison Square Garden was my next stop where Felipe Garcia had just won the World's Heavyweight Championship. After shaking his hand, I left for my plane to go to Detroit, Michigan.

On the plane, I met Janet Nowalk, airline hostess. I was safely flown through a storm by bomber pilot Tom Auxter, who was working part time for Interplanetary Spacelines. The Navy did not need bomber pilots now since the W.W.P.P. (World Wide Peace Plan) was issued by President Patricia Overmyer who was elected a year ago.

Landing in Detroit, I went to the River Rouge Ford Plant near Dearborn, and I talked over old times with Vice-President Brice Overmyer who designed the Thunderford Super 80. I also went to watch Mary Roush win a loving cup for the Champion Ice-Skater of the year at a world wide meet.

Taking another heli-jet, I went back to my old home town of Lindsey, Ohio (now a prosperous city). I heard Ladd's Barber Shop was still in business, so I stopped and got a Flying Saucer haircut (now the craze of the country), by Ben Ladd the president of the National Barber's Guild.

I then went to see Mr. Webb, the county superintendent of schools in this area. He showed me the new high school in Lindsey.

Later I went to Hessville, a large village, and visited Smith's Self-Service Meat Market. After buying a pound of liverworst, I shook hands with Sandra Smith, who was vacationing from her beauty shop.

The next stop was a suburb of Lindsey called Fremont, I stopped in at the Fremont-Lindsey Memorial Hospital and I saw Barbara Linker, chief surgeon. She hurried off telling me she had an appendectomy to perform.

Next I drove on the International Highway to San Francisco Naval Base, where I met Phil Hicks, a first class navigator from Annapolis and Gary Yoder, a deep sea diver from the Navy. These two had joined forces and salvaged a pirate treasure in the Pacific.

Then I went to Hollywood, where I met Sharon Humburg, private secretary to Elvis Presley.

Next stop was Missouri, where the annual Farmer's Union Convention was being held. There I met the chairman Larry Auxter, who was appointed, "Farmer of the Year". I also met Betty Wagner who had the grand champion steer at the International Livestock Exposition.

Last I went to Colorado where I saw Faye Martin at her Bar-M Orphan Ranch.

On my way to my home in Washington D. C., I was glad to think over the big experience I had had and all the people I had met. My next assignment was to invent a way to concentrate water in the form of a pill.

Christmas Program

On December 14, 1956, Washington Township School held their annual Christmas program.

The program took place at eight o'clock in the auditorium. A large crowd was present to witness the performance.

Christmas Fun In 91 was a gay, frolicking, rolicking pageant from the year 1891. It was put on by the eight grades. The first act took place in an old fashioned living room, done in gay nineties style. The mother, father, and children played by Sharon Humburg, Tom Auxter, Patty Overmyer, Linda Micheals, Luther Sand, and Gilford Root, played their parts well. Grandfather played by Denny Hasselbach was the only one who didn't like Christmas. In the second act, the Christmas Spirit played by Sandy Smith, tries her best and succeeds, to change grandfather from a grouch, to a kind old man. In the third act grandfather tells how he feels about Christmas, and then wishes everyone a Merry Christmas.

We of Washington Township School took part in the Junior Red Cross drive. This drive collects money for the children overseas. They also collect other articles such as: soap, pencils, tooth brush, and other useful things.

Christmas Seals

We of Washington Township School took part in the Christmas seal drive. This Christmas seal money is used in the prevention and cure of Tuberculosis.
